NEW INVENTIONS.

THE COMBINED VAPOR ENGINE.—THE SUBSCRIher, having obtained from the United States government a patent for his invention of the Combined Vapor Engine, is now prepared to sell the right to use said invention on reasensable terms. The invention of the subscriber is applied soither to a single engine, with two cylinders and pistons, or, are is usual for maritime purposes, two distinct engines, with a cylinder and platon cach. In either case, one of the pistone is acted upon by steam, and the other by the vapor of perchloride, or of any other easily vaporised liquid. The steam power is generated and applied as in the ordinary engine; but upon the escaps of the steam from the first cylinder, after having exerted lit expansive force therein, it passes into an air-tight case, termed a vaporizer, containing a number of small tubus charged with perchloride, or some sasily vaporized liquid, penetrates into the space between, and comes in contact with the entire surface of the tubes. The faculty of almosting caloric, possessed by liquids of the taforce measured class, is no powerful, that immediately of the steam is about the problem of the caloric of the atherned that is contact with the entire surface of Martinique papers to the 16th ult., have been received. They contain official accounts of the quantity of produce shipped in January and February from Martinique and Guadaloupe. From Martinique the amount of sugar exported in those two months is 2,480,078 kilogrammes, and from Guadaloupe it is 610,273 kilogrammes, and from Guadaloupe it is 610,273 kilogrammes. On comparison with the cerresponding period of 1530, the above gives an increase to Martinique of 791,700 kilogrammes, and a falling off at Guadaloupe of 191,390 kilogrammes. The Courtier ascribes this melaneholy result, as regards Guadaloupe, to the weakness of the present administration. It says—Colonel Fleron wrote last year to the Minister, that labor was preceding as agreeably and actively as could be desired. What answer could he now make to the Minister that should say to him. How comes it that in the disastrous year 1820, a year of incendiarism, there were 1,063 hhds. of sugar made up to the 1st of March, while to the 1st of March, 1851, your government has not furnished more than 1,220 " This is truly a sad state of things for a colony of 120,000 souls, and whose average exports during the previous thirty years showed 69,000 hhds. of sugar a year.

As regards Martinique, we read as follows:—
Martinique, which has not the misfortune of having elected any Mc ntagnard for its representative, and which cowes to its own good spirit its exemption from the rigors of martial law, is in quite another position. Her production is increased and improving. It the month of January this colony exported 2,866 hhds. of sugar, and in February 4,500 hhds., and that of 1840 by twenty hhds. This is a happy result, and sugurs a crop for the year of 40,000 hhds.

Monement of Firement—By the two o'clock train from Philadelphia arrived in this city, on their way to visit Roston and Albany. Yesterday morning the Marion Hose Company of Philadelphia arrived in this city, on their way in visit Roston and Albany. Yesterday morning the Marion Hose Company of this city received a telegraphic despatch, announcing the soming of the Columbia Hose, and the members of the Marion prepared a sumptuous dinner at the Tammany Hotel, to which they and their guests sat down about three o'clock. The Columbia is accompanied by a detachment of fifteen instruments from Fireman's Philadelphia Brass Band. The visiting party numbers fifty-one fine looking young men. After dinner they marched to the City Hall, and were received in the Hovernor's room by Mr. W. Smith, Alderman of the Eleventh ward, and Assistant Alderman Webb, of the Seventh ward. They were then conducted to the believe and other parts of the building, after which they womescorted to the steamboat by their brethren'of the Marion Hose. After visiting Boston they will proceed to Albany, where they will remain for two days. On Saturday afternoon they will reweal albany for this city, and will remain till Tuecday the guests of the Marion Hose Company. The hose carriage is a remarkably handsome, and nearly excusted piece of workmanship, painted white, with blue stripes, and richly decorated with filter and gold patings, and, taken altogether, the Columbia Hose has a respectable and imposing appearance, and must attract attention wherever it passes.

The Shoothead Affairs.—We noticed in Sunday's Hersid. the fact of a shot having been fired through the window of the residence of Mr. David Cudlip, residing in Forty-eighth street, which ball came very near taking effect in the head of Mr. Cudlip, who was seated at the window at the time. Captain Maynard, of the Ninaternth ward police, has investigated the matter, and has accertained that the ball was evidently shot accidentally from the direction of some parties who were shooting at a mark a distince of some hundred yards off. The Captain is satisfied that the shot was the effect of carelessness or accident, and not the work of an assassin, as was at first believed.

New Years. "Stanza:" Twins.—We learn from a highly respectable physician, that on yesterday, the wife of a worthy citizen in Washington street gave birth to twins, who were connected with each other similarly to the Sismese twins, Chang and Eng. One of the children lived a few minutes after the other was born. It is to be regretted that the delicate feelings of the parents prevented their being preserved for sclennific examination.

A Granz Kirland by a Stanz.—Yesterday aftermoon, a child, named George Williams, aged three years, was run over by one of Keefe's stages, while passing down the Eighth avenue. The wheel of the stage passed over the breast of the child, killing it instantly. Coroner George was called to held an inquest on the body at the residence of its parents, No. 226 Eighth avenue.
